1989 COVENANT COLLEGE

A CLOSER LOOK

A YEAR WORTH

The word "home" conjours up many feelings of warmth, happiness, and security. Everyone likes to go home or to remember the vivid memories of our homeplace. Covenant to many of us is a college, a castle in the clouds, a beautiful place, a second home! As we think back over 1988-89 and the activities that went on atop this mountain, we remember a variety of events: classes, chapels, sporting events, meals, banquets, times of growth, and times of fellowship with our friends. Many of us now consider these friends to be like family. So as we tour down these pages of the TARTAN, let us take A CLOSER LOOK at this place we call home!!

Supporting the Scots because life is not a spectator sport.

College Picnic

The college-wide picnic this year was held the first weekend of school. It was a great opportunity for the new students to become acquainted with the Covenant community. The faculty, their families, and the students enjoyed a good time of fellowship and fun.

Many students participated in the games that were held. The volleyball and ping-pong tournament were the most popular. Other events included: an egg toss, tug-of-war, horseshoes, and the greased watermelon. After a supper of hamburgers and hotdogs with all the trimmings, the group was entertained by some local musicians called the Dismembered Tennesseeans. Beautiful weather made the picture complete and the day was a great success!

Elizabeth prepares to send the ball over the net.

Everyone enjoys socializing at the picnic.

Plenty of Coke was provided to quench everyone's thirst.

Spectators and players alike enjoyed the games.

"Heave, ho! Heave, ho!"

Genzo leads the games by the pool!!

The Dismembered Tennesseans entertain the crowd with country tunes.

"On your mark, get set . . ."

Beth bumps the ball — hopefully over the net!

Everyone enjoys the shade while resting from the games and waiting for the band to begin.

Donna watches carefully to make sure that her money doesn't disappear with a slip of his hand.

Lyssa: "You can dress Paul up, but you still can't take him out."

Debbie, Katie and Bethany dazzle their fellow freshmen Clay, Lance, and Clint.

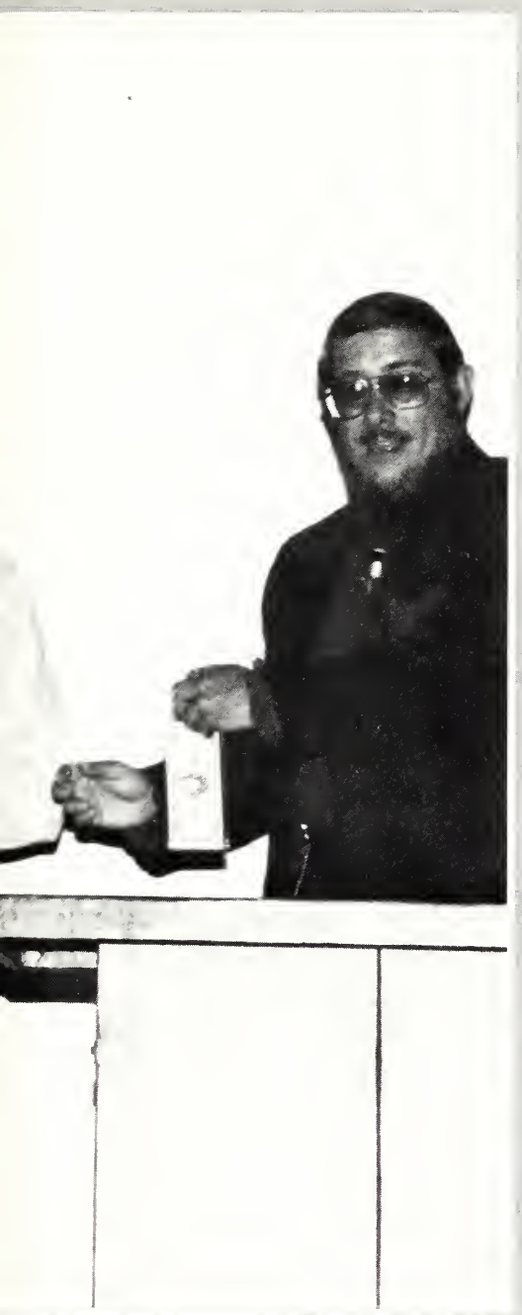
Kilter Night



Over two hundred students and friends experienced the magical evening on September 24, 1988 for Kilter Night. The Great Hall was decorated in black, gold and white where the dinner was served by faculty and professors and their spouses. Stee Varro, a Christian illusionist, provided the entertainment of magic with a Christian flair. Everyone especially enjoyed when Mr. Varro relieved President Brock of his watch and wallet!

The tables carried the theme with black and white balloons and golden wrapped bottles.

Now, don't worry! Only three people have lost their hands this way.

President Brock never knew that this was covered in his job description.

GLAD Concert

On Saturday, September 3, 1988, Covenant College was honored with the presence of one of Contemporary Christian Music's truly unique and talented bands. That group was GLAD. GLAD was formed in 1972 in Leesburg, VA. The current members of the band include Ed Nalle, Chris Davis, Tom Beard, John Gates, and Mark Wilson. GLAD is known for a very distinctive sound and their blend of pop, jazz, rhythm and blues. On each album they traditionally had a number or two that were A Capella. This love of A Capella music inspired latest album, the A Capella Project, which they performed for us. For those of us non-music types, A Capella music is sung entirely without any kind of instrumental accompaniment, a very difficult task and the result is a highly impressive sound. The group did a fabulous concert that was truly inspirational and everyone came away with a new respect for the talent in the group GLAD.

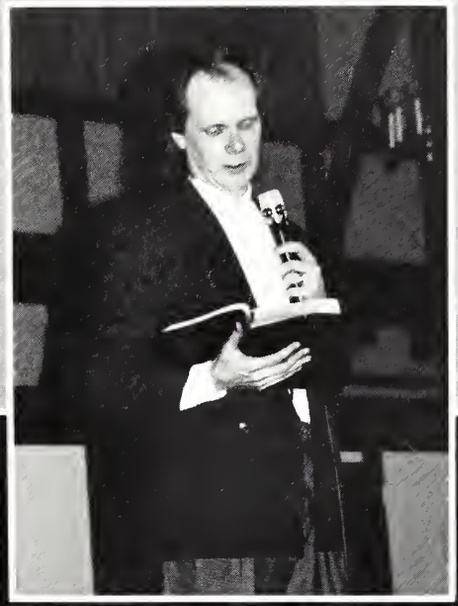
GLAD dazzles the crowd with their close harmony.

The group performs everyone's favorites.

Some members spoke to the crowd about Compassion International and urged others to adopt children.

GLAD lifts their praises to God in the Great Hall.

GLAD is truly glad to be at Covenant.



Ed Nalley reads Scripture and helps to remind Covenant of their reasons for being glad.

GLAD'S lyrics encourage and uplift the student body.

Homecoming

The 1988-89 Homecoming week was a spectacular time to be on Covenant College's campus. There were many activities that included both the alumni and current students. Class representtives were elected by the student body based on Christian witness, personality, and leadership ability. For the senior class Scott Dillon and Kelly Winfrey were chosen. The junior class elected John Hicks and Valerie Jarrard to be their representatives. Byekwaso Francis and Lydia Dow were given the honor by the sophomore class; and the freshman class elected John Bohannan and Ann Pink.

Lydia accepts her award as Sophomore class Homecoming representative graciously.

Bonnie, Sue, Cheri, and Mary Kate clown around at the ice cream social.

Gee, Elizabeth, that's a mighty large bite you are taking!

The varsity Scots hoop it up with the faculty team.

"I can't believe you actually told him that, Becky!"

Old soccer Scots give their fellow alumni a run for their money.
Wildeman . . . "That's a great plan, Chuck, but just make sure Kauffman doesn't get the ball!"
Rachel obviously enjoys the ice cream social.

Junior Class

The Junior masquerade party was a great success with many juniors involved. The evening was started with several line dances. Once the juniors had learned and perfected the line dances they moved on to Fox Trot. Amy Diefenthaler and Elise Cave instructed the students and eventually they danced the fox trot with ease. Everyone had a good time.

There were costume awards given to several people such as Sarah Patterson — dressed as he Cat in the Hat, Christa Cox dressed as Snow White, David Dupee dressed as Pinochio and Anne Almy, Julie Kirk, Sherry Dixon, and Valerie Jarred dressed a the characters from the Wizard of Oz.

To draw the evening to an awesome close, Jenny Barker, dressed in black, read the Tell-Tale Heart by Edgar Allen Poe by candlelight. This was the perfect ending to a perfectly wonderful masquerade party.

Elise instructs Chris Hatch, a very eager student.

"Don't you just love the new fall fashions, Stacy?"

Tim is entertained by the Cat in the Hat.

Masquerade Ball

"Toto, I don't think we're in Kansas anymore!"

Jae and Amy take a break to catch their breath.

Kazuko, Joan and Margarite sport a variety of costumes to improve the scenery.

Christian Stevens

The Christian Stevens Band came to the Great Hall to perform for the students. It was a night of encouragement as the musicians shared their Christian testimony through song! As usual with concerts, all that attended were glad they went.

Christian Stevens combined a scriptural lesson with their music.

A member of the band sings a solo.

The band's contemporary sound kept the crowd enthused.

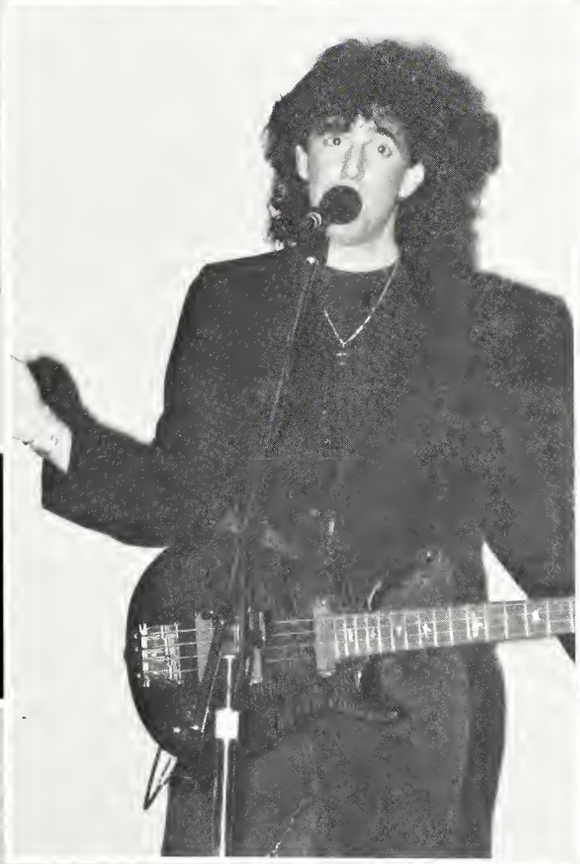
Jim Niles and Allegra Prichard help out the group on a number.

Rick Cua

Bass guitarist Rick Cua brought his contemporary Christian music to Covenant for an evening of rock and roll with a Christian-centered message. He played his bass with the accompaniment of tracks with conversation in between songs. His New York Italian accent lended to his realistic view of today's life and need for Christ. The music was great and the atmosphere charged for Christ. Rick sang songs from his recent album "Can't Stand Too Tall" and talked of his recent "Rock the Boat" tour of Italy as well as a need for Christ everywhere.

Rick Cua pounds out his point.

For a solo act, Rick Cua's sound is awesome.



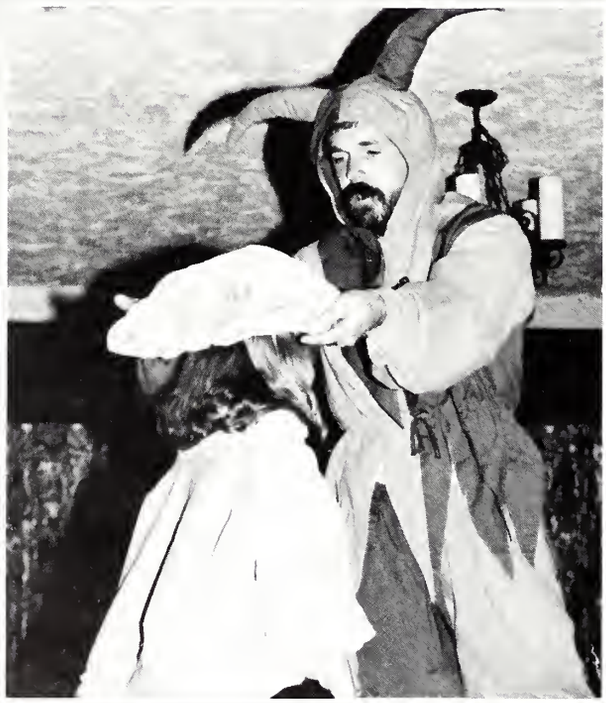
Rick's spirit shines through in his message.

The bass guitar has never sounded better than when it is played by Cua.

Madrigals

Dr. Friberg accompanies the Chorale with piano and harpsicord!

The Madrigal Singers included: Steve Burdett, Debbie Hageman, Eric Pilgrim, Kelly Bell, Ed Sunder, Julie Mattison, Keith Jones, Carla Warren, Paula Westenburg, Dave Dupee, Becky Van Sluys, Robert Stewart, Lisa Tabor, Nate Wilson, Kris McColm, Matt Vos.



The joker is up to his old tricks.

Todd Johnson, Marcie Pickett, Rich Engle and Pam Sokody are all dressed for the occasion.

Jennifer Gosling and Jeff Faulk enjoy the evening of feasting and entertainment.

With the banners in place and the tables set, Madrigals commenced once again in the Great Hall on December 1, 2, & 3. The beautiful banners were made by Mrs. Ed Kellogg. The food was delicious from the first drink of Wassail to the final bite of plum pudding.

Guests of the evening were hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Bill Higgins, the Lord and Ladye. Dr. John Hamm led the Madrigal Singers in many delightful numbers. A quintet of recorder players, a bass ensemble, and Steve Lawton entertained the dinner. A magician was also a hand to perform a few tricks. It was a great time of merriment and a perfect way to herald in the Christmas season.

Davis Bird presents the boar's head before the main course.

Amy Dillon and Bill Wallace take a break from serving and playing.

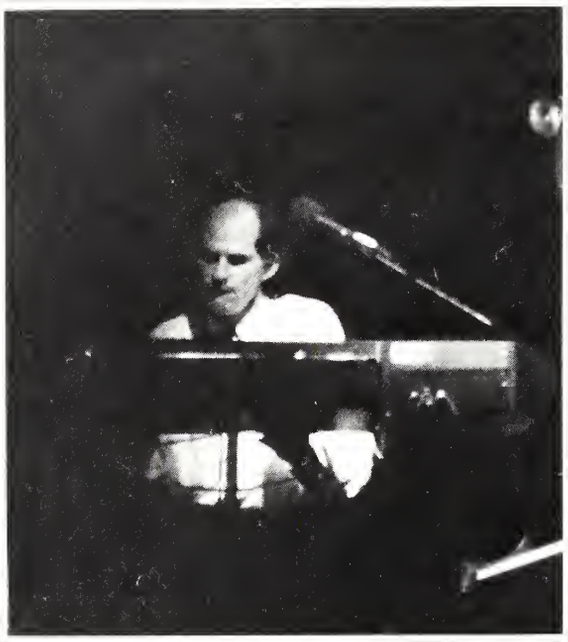
James Ward

On Saturday night, January 14, 1989, Covenant College reinstated a tradition that had been sadly put aside for too long, James Ward returned for a concert in our own Great Hall. The return was met with great enthusiasm and every seat was filled. James Ward introduced to us his newest album Blue Believer which will be released sometime this Spring. As usual, Mr. Ward's talent shone through in a wide variety of types of music. There were some old up-beat favorites and some newer more reflective numbers off his new album.

There were some new up-beat songs as well as no one there will ever forget the Muscial Adventure that he took us on. Mr. Ward delighted the crowd with the song that all of Covenant College will always think of when they think of James Ward, Rock of Ages. The tradition is back and let's hope it goes on for a long time.

The concert, as always, was a crowd pleaser.

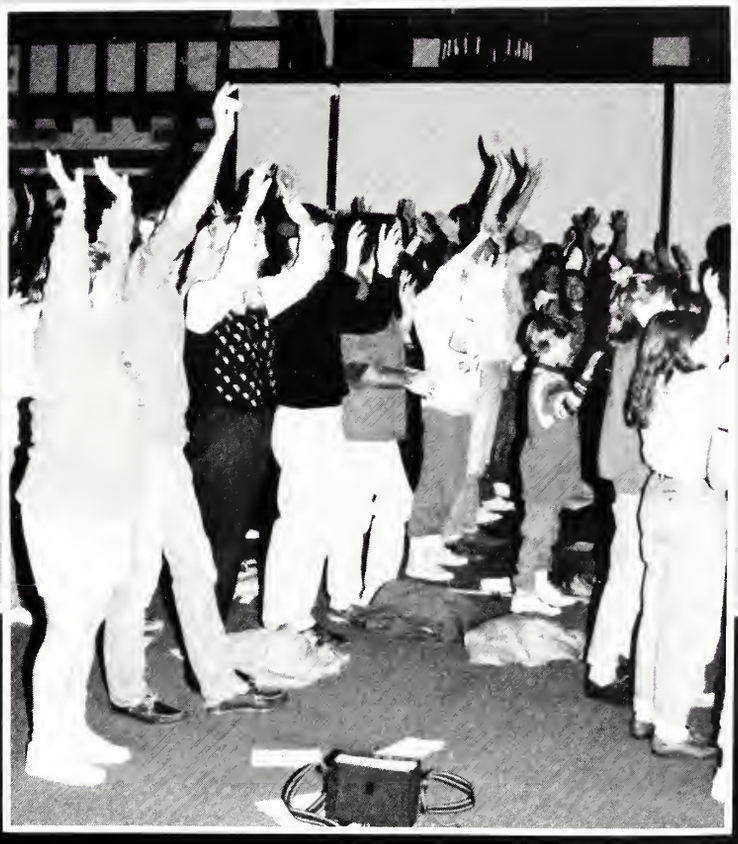


Ward impresses the crowd with his variety of music.

Rudy and Collyn show the crowd how to get down!!

We expected singing, but a comedy and dance routine too??!!

Ward always has a way with words!!



If you are having a GOOD time raise your hand!!

Campus Preview Weekend

Covenant has 200+ students to visit the campus during the Fall 1988 Campus Preview Weekend. The CPW's enjoyed special events which included the ice cream social, the Scots and Lady Scots home basketball games, and the ever-popular BELZ BASH with a "South of the Border" theme.

Peg and Teri enjoy the ice cream and each other at the Ice Cream Bash.

Leda and Chris beg the CPW's to join the Widow Ministry at the ice cream bash.

Jim Niles tells the visitors about the campus ministry he works with.

Jonathan Brown gets down at the Belz Bash Limbo contest.

The PENTHOUSE guys pull out all the stops to impress the visitors.

"Join Young Life and you'll get all the free ice cream you want!!"

Dorcas and Cherry dish out the ice cream for the CPW'S to enjoy!

HEY!!! STOP THAT DANCING!!!!!

Stephen Lauren Bigger Concert

Concerts at Covenant are always a fun time to get together away from the books and enjoy some good music and fellowship. This year's Stephen Lauren Bigger concert was not different!! It is especially refreshing as we listen to the music from one of Covenant's own!! To know that the words of the songs are really a part of his life and not just some thrown together lyrics make the songs more memorable. As the groups grows we hope that they will always have time to perform in the Great Hall and encourage Covenant for a long time!!!

Stephen always puts on a great concert.

Many talents are displayed in the group.

Stephen always has time to mingle with the crowd!

Stephen Bigger and Waterfall entertain the Covenant Crowd.

Live Music beats the radio anyday!!!

Stephen concentrates on his music as well as his message!

Stephen seems to feel comfortable in such familiar surroundings.

Covenant Presents . . .
"You Can't Take It With You."

This is for real guys!!!

Let's see . . . That's a cheeseburger, fries, and a coke . . . Right??

"You see the centrifugal force acts on the . . ."

This is definitely more exciting than class. Definitely.

I would sit back, but real actresses, like myself, stay in character at all times!!

"Brian?? Oh he would run about $100.00 for a broken leg or we have a special on fractures for $69.95."

Spring Banquet . . .

"Excuse me young man, may I have this dance??"

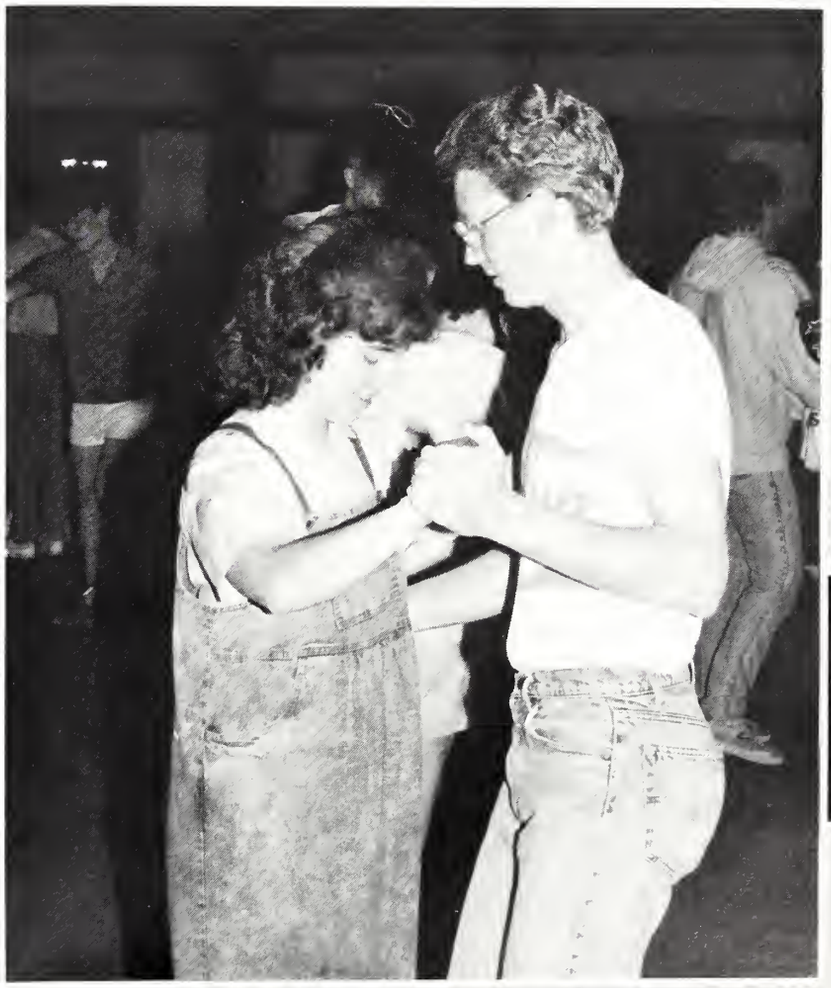
Phil Biber and Teresa Planey get all gussied up for a great time!!

Tom, Jae, Wes and Jen rest on a bench that was placed in the room to remind us of a park in Paris!!!

Springtime In Paris

This year's Spring Banquet was held at the Chattanooga Choo-Choo. The theme was SPRINGTIME IN PARIS. The large banquet room was decorated with park benches, banners, a gazebo and candles on the tables. Everyone was dressed up with flowers to match and came to have the time of their lives. It was also a memorable occasion since Covenant had it's first school dance. A small group of musicians played a variety of songs as we danced the night away. Everyone participated in the dancing and showed that dancing and Covenant can mix!! The festivites also included a dramatic reading by Jenny Barker who is always a crowd pleaser. It was a beautiful and exciting way to celebrate the coming of spring.

Tom and Lisa flash their pearly whites for our roving photographer.



"Hey Christa, have you been practicing in your room??"

Spring Banquet was a splendid time for all the couples!!

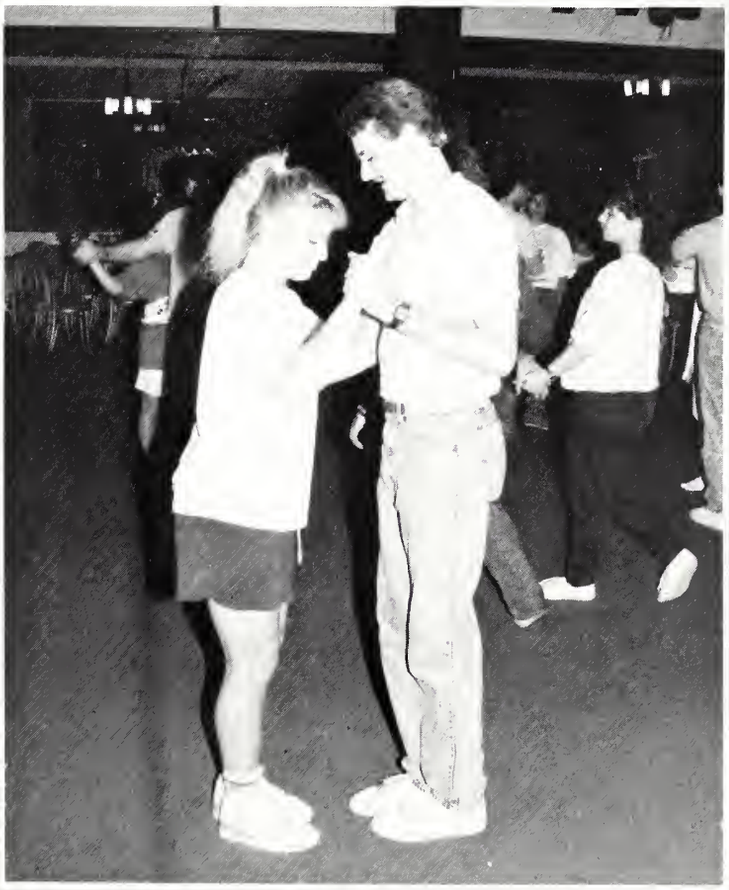
Dena Perkins and Troy Duble, Putting on the ritz!!

Christy and John take a break from the excitement!!

The entire room was filled with Laughter and Music!

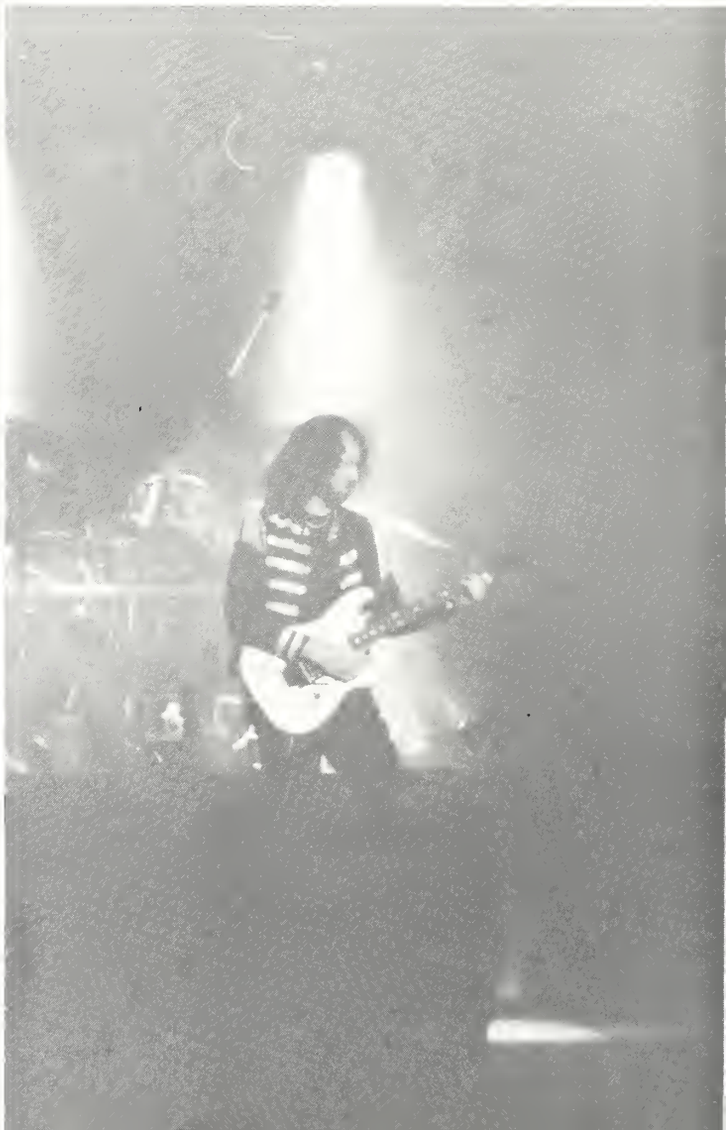
"I know that I came here with a date!?!?!?

"1, 2, 3 ... 1, 2, 3 ..."



White Cross Rocks Covenant

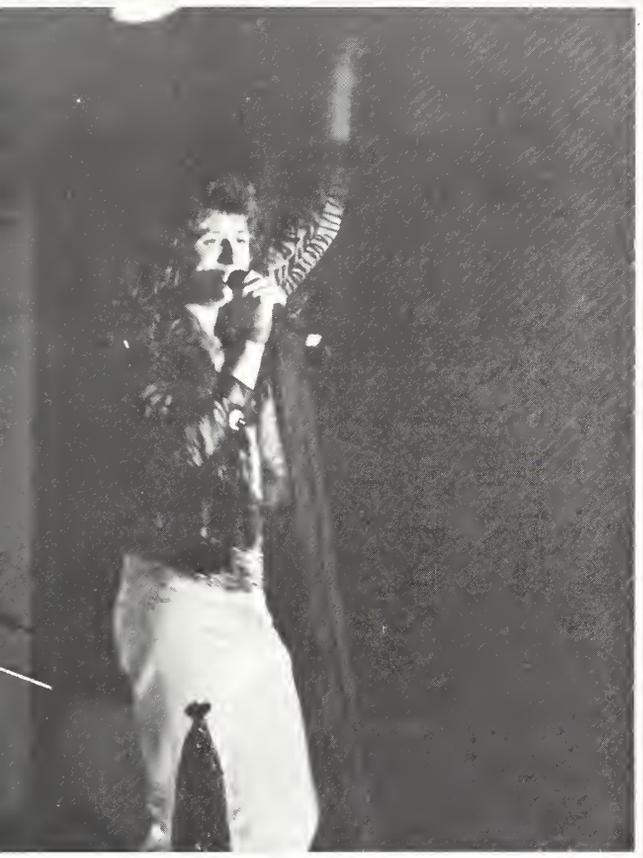
White Cross, one of the more heavy metal Christian Rock bands to entertain at Covenant, came on their recent tour to Lookout Mountain. The difference White Cross brought was a different style of music. More guitars, different effects and a little louder volume set Covenant to rockin'! The group like other performers came to share their love of Christ with the audience. The audience was not only encouraged, but had a fun evening of entertainment!!



White Cross performs in the Great Hall.

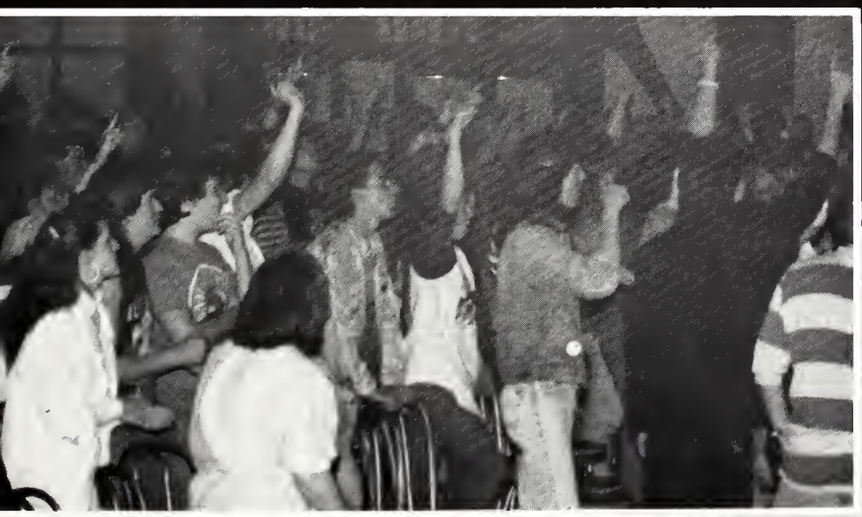
The fog rolls in!!

Students and visitors enjoy the sounds of White Cross!!



White Cross uses ROCK to point people to Christ!

Powerful lyrics get the message across.



White Cross puts on a great show!!

Screaming guitars create that hard rock sound.

The crowd gets involved in the action of the concert.

A Comedy Break With . . .

Late Night At Covenant

Late Night was a night of laughter. The Late Night cast showed a variety of skits ranging from Indians singing from Fiddler on the Roof, "If I were a thin man" to a skit featuring an unlikely combination of James Brown, Alexander Haig, and Ed Grimley. The jazz ensemble, The Danny Sample quartet, were excellent in their bluesy-jazz renditions of some popular and well known tunes. Also featured were video clips of a tour in New York (complete with a real bum) and people's reactions to the Covenant students "visit" to Ruby Falls.

Great Jazz was performed by a local group during the show!!

Hal and Gus get the ball (and crowd) rolling with the opening act!!

Is it Nan and Dave or could it be Siskel and Ebert???

Does this hurt?????

Graduation . . .

Skip got the crowd roaring with his testimony filled with jokes!!!

Many families came to enjoy the celebration with their graduates!!

Rob and Lyssa make it through with GREAT memories!!

The Banquet . . .

Three teachers looking forward to great careers.

President Brock addresses the graduates and their families.

Dinner was followed by three senior testimonies . . . Skip Gienapp, Anne McKeever and Scott Dillon.

The Ceremony . . .

Graduation was a bit different this year as we met inside the chapel. Filling the chapel to capacity to hear the 34th Commencement Exercises was family, friends, faculty and graduates. It was an encouraging time as graduates shared their testimonies, faculty participated in the ceremony, and the key speaker, Mrs. Kay James, addressed the graduates. Mrs. James is a very politically involved lady. She challenged the graduates to "be real." Of course the highlight of the day was the awarding of the degrees. It was a great time for those who had worked so hard to receive them. As students filed out to the traditional bagpipe music it was a time for rejoicing and yet a bit sorrowful as they realized they were leaving the place they had grown to love.

Mrs. James brought an encouraging message to students, faculty and family.

Debbie Mugabi has finally made it!!

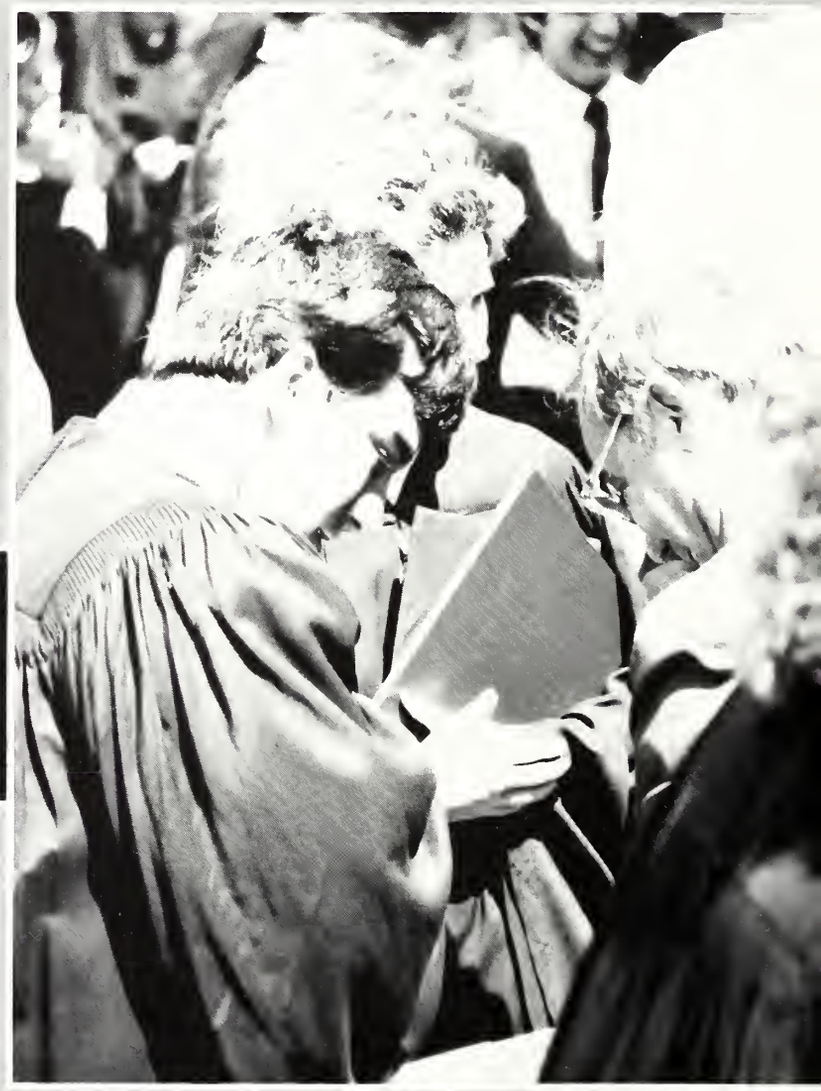
We've got our diploma's ... where are the presents????

Rich Engle shares his testimony and bids farewell to his classmates.

"All for Jesus: becomes a motto for life.

The Goodbyes . . .

"This robe has Got to go!!!



Congratulations were extended to all

"Now, Dad, about that car you promised me if I finished!!"

Who says brunettes don't have more fun??!!??!!

Senate President Kimberly Nelson

What a privilege it has been this year to be student body president, to have the right, yea, even be expected to talk to people and work to enhance our college experience. I have learned many things in the past eight months . . .

I asked the Lord at the beginning to keep me aware of my dependence on Him. Well, He has consistently done that and from time to time had to use more drastic measures to catch my attention! I recall the first budget meeting and the overwhelming feeling of responsibility to properly distribute $24,000. Not only was that an awesome task but then having to deal with the negative reaction of some students to our decisions and having people questioning my spirituality as a result was humbling!

The second semester brought with it trails of decision making. The decision of whether or not to make an exception to the Constitution was a tough one along with interpreting it's meaning when it wasn't clear to me regarding the election policy. Oh, how difficult it can be when it seems people and policy stand in opposition to one another.

It was tough fighting for causes I didn't want to spend time with; tough being misunderstood and mocked; tough not knowing how to react; tough being expected to always act a certain way even when it wasn't me. But through all the tension times, God was ever faithful to me and to the senate and brought me through them convinced He could use us to fulfill His purpose in our lives and the life of the school.

Looking back at some of the issues we addressed this year, I was surprised at the diversity of the topics and the opportunity senate had to make a difference. We increased the activity fee to better accommodate the diverse interests of the Student body, updated the budget forms, evaluated academic advising, and chapel policy and made recommendations for their betterment, helped revise the dance policy and the open-house policy. These things, among others, were exciting to be a part of.

Probably the greatest joy for me was the time spent with the other senators. How I enjoyed our ability to laugh at ourselves and our ability to set our minds to a task and work hard. I appreciated their willingness to voice their opinions and to respectfully listen to others opinions. Very rarely would anything go unchallenged and God used that to keep us ever conscious of our responsibility to think things thoroughly. I could always count on Duncan and Chris to voice their opinions There were others in the group who were sensitive to attitudes and gentleness of speech and they helpfully reminded me when the temperature began to rise. Then there was always Jonathan, ready and willing to add a little humor to the meeting. They were all good sports. I recall our trip to Atlanta for the weekend when we packed 7 people in Scott's Bronco for a two hour trip home. I've never seen four more excited men than our class presidents when they saw the size of the back hatch. Or this Christmas when Scott and I attempted to make ornaments of each members' face out of flour dough and having them turn out a little wrinkled and deathly pale! What wonderful memories of fun times, stretching times. Thank you for an incredible experience!

Varsity Soccer

Scott Bosgraf works with Grandy Streets to score for the Scots.

The soccer Scots had another great season, finishing with a 12-4-2 record despite losing 9 seniors from last year's team. Led by the only senior, captain Scott Bosgraf, the Scots qualified for the NAIA playoffs for the ninth straight year.

Some highlights of the season included big wins over Bryan, Tennessee Temple, and the University of the South. Scott Bosgraf, Greg Smith, and Grandy Streets were selected to the NAIA All-district team. Bosgraff was also voted to the NCCAA All-South honors. Sophomore Sean McDaniel was second behind Grandy in scoring for the Scots this season. Overall the young Scots had a very exciting and successful year and show even greater promise for the future.

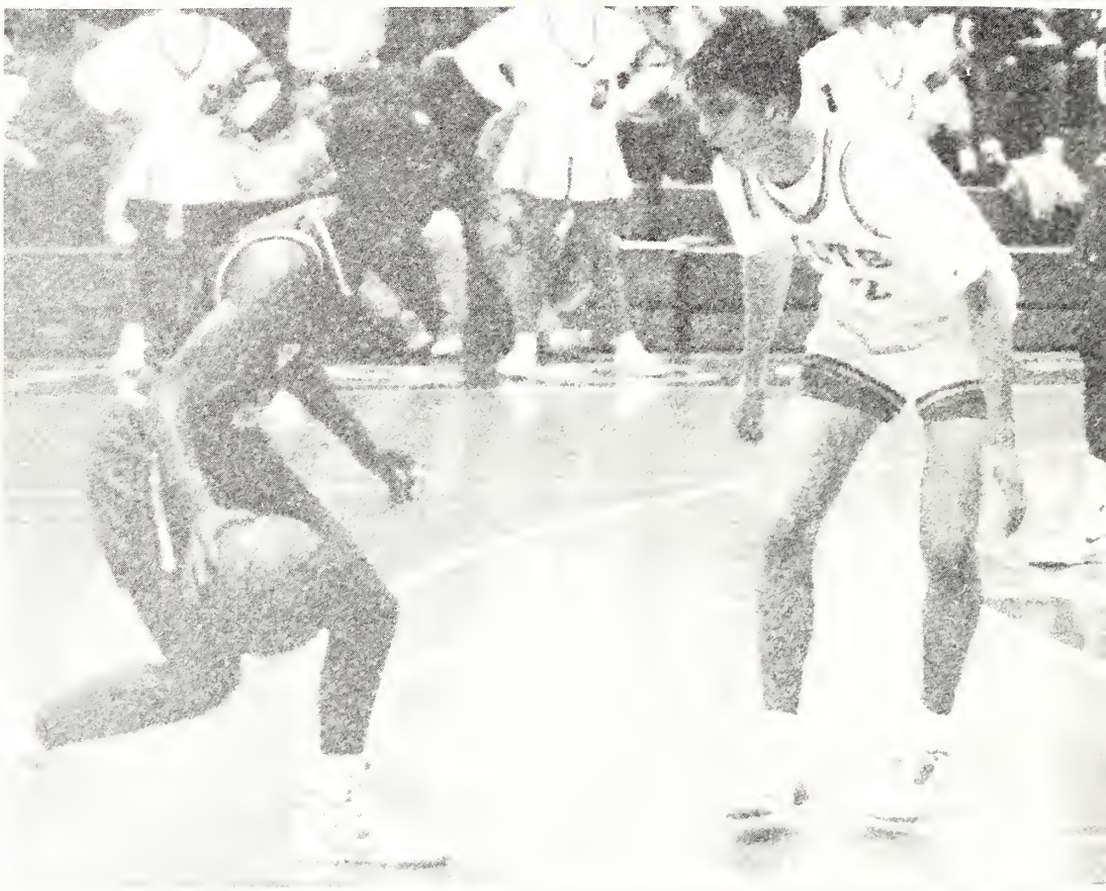
Men's Basketball 1988-89

The Scots had a tough season on the court this year, finishing with a disappointing 10-22 record. It was a young team with several freshmen seeing lots of playing time. The Scots always played hard and never gave up, and many of their losses were by a slim margin. Coach Fitzgerald especially praised the play of Mark Burdett, who led the team both on and off the court. Newcomer Rick Ferguson joined the team mid-season and became one of the Scots' most consistent players. Fitzgerald said that the team learned several lessons through the adversity they faced, and that the growth they experienced can only help them in the future.



Mark Burdett prepares to defend the home basket.

Coach Smialek was quite pleased with the results of the Lady Scots' season. In spite of a 13-21 record, the team played above all expectations and did very well especially considering that they finished the season with only six players. Ann Montgomery was the team leader and had an award-winning season. She became Covenant's all-time leading scorer, with more than 2300 points in her career. She was also named an NCCAA first-team All-American and made the NAIA all-district team. Sharon Mudd also had an outstanding year and was honored by being named an NCCAA Academic All-American.

Lady Scots

Our Lady Scots played a tough season this year. They had a heavy schedule as part of the NAIA District 24 and the NCCAA District 5 in which they finished fifth. Coach Tami Smialeck commented on the team and told us, "This year we've built a strong foundation. Next year, there will be ten returning players. We have a very promising future."

The volleyball team had their banquet at the end of April. Awards were presented to the teams' superlative players including Marie Meals, MVP; Sharon Mudd, Best Offensive Player; Marie Meals, Best Defensive Player; Phyllis Moore, Most Improved Player; Christy Gore, Best Rookie Player.

3 On 3 Basketball

"I'm comin' through!!!" says Steve Hall.

The 3 on 3 tournament was great half time entertainment.

The Schick Super Hoops 3-on-3 basketball tournament came to Covenant again this year. Several three man teams competed, with the team of Steve Hall, Wes Holland, Scott Dillon and Ralph Kelley winning the Covenant tournament. They then went to Atlanta to play in the national tournament at Georgia State University. There they faced some tough competition, but held there own. They did not win the tournament, but they had a good time playing against some very good players.

"Getting a little soft in the middle . . . huh Phil," asks Scott Dillon.

Wes and Phil see who can jump higher!

3 On 3 Volleyball

3 on 3 Volleyball was played this Spring on the outdoor court in front of Carter Hall. There were a number of teams and they played all Saturday long. There were some very tough teams while some teams were out for just a good day of FUN! It was a great way to cap off intramural sports for the Spring semester.

Rich Engle puts power behind the ball! Nevin tries to find their weak spot.

"In your face, pretty boy!!!"

1988-89 Intramural Champs Beat Al. Standing: Tom Cantrell, Jim Kugler, Chip Frazier, Rick Reinick, Kevin Whitmore, John Sturdivent, Shelden Smith, Pat Dare. Sitting: Dean Arnold, Paul Reiter, Paul Warren and Gus Diamond.

As is the case every fall, scores of men sacrificed the comforts of their warm beds on Saturday mornings to brave the fog, mud and wind to play in the CIFL, the Covenant Intramural Football League. Al DeHart angered his fellow alumni by defecting to the Catacomb Rats, so the alumni team vowed vengence. Thus they named their team Beat Al. Beat Al never did beat Al and company, but they did beat the Stingers to win the CIFL championship.

Alumnus Kevin Whitmore looks for an open man.

Rick Reinick and Paul Warren add their team's name to the list of Football Champions.

Women's Intramural Soccer

Women's intramural soccer was especially competitive this season. The women came out to show the guys that soccer is not just a man's sport. Many guys came out just to see the girls "get mean," but on the whole all players displayed good sportsmanship. At the end of the season the Suicides came out on top of the six teams competiting in the tournament, but all the teams had a great time playing.

The tournament winners, the Suicides, included: Lois Sneller, Lori Baron, Gayle Bruner, Elizabeth Forrester; Coach John McGee, Kai Larrison, Holly Edminston, Trudy Eddings, Krista Zoephel and Coach Andy Robinson.

Coaches Sean McDaniel and Greg Smith give Rachel Lorenz strategy.

Winning team: Toxic Pregnant Yaks: Brian Peeples, Mark Mc Mannus, Steve Muth, Duncan Holmes, Jeff Allen, Paul Rusten, David Robinson, Guillermo Uribe, Alvaro Victoria, B Francis.

Crowds flocked to the gym this winter to enjoy the action of guys' intramural soccer. The play was fast and rough and the fans ate it up. The teams with seasoned varsity players were hard to beat, but the "amateurs" provided them with some tough competition. The Toxic Pregnant Yaks came out on top in the end, winning the championship tournament.

Thomas Finch tries to get around Lee Clark for a goal.

Dave Lattner takes his time down the court unopposed.

David White makes a save!!

Eric Stover goes up for two.

Jason Cross displays perfect form.

Paul Warren takes a breather.

Ralph Hilliard looks for a pass.

Men's Intramural Basketball

Coach Fritz shows them how it is done.

Basketball proved to be a very competitive intramural sport this year as 17 teams participated in two leagues. In the 13 team B league the level of play ranged from the winless but entertaining We Can Beat U in Chess to the undefeated Faculty and Staff Team (FAST). Chris Hatch's team challenged FAST for the B league champhionship, but FAST held them off and maintained their perfect record.

Four teams played in the toughter A league. In the end Kevin Whitmore's team defeated Todd Johnson's team to become the A league championship.

Steve Brown hoists it up for two.

Being the Editor of the Tartan this year was certainly a challenging adventure for me!! It was a time to learn about deadlines, responsibility and dealing with others. There were both the good times and the bad throughout the year. Late nights before deadlines, the red tape, missing or blurry pictures and the seemingly endless question of "Where are our yearbooks?" were not always easy things to overcome. The hard work and support of my staff was tremendously helpful and without their efforts you would not have received your yearbooks on time!!

I decided to take a moment and thank all those people who were such a support to me during this year. Amy Dillon was always there, with organizer in hand, to help me plan and work out our schedule! Thanks for all the encouragement and all the "dirty work" you did as Assistant Editor. I appreciated Sherry's effort on rounding up pictures that were not usually easy to get and her smiles during those long hours!! Thank you Lori for all the notes you wrote and the enthusiasm for the work before us! Then there was David (Brother-to-be) who acted as our male perspective. Thanks for working on all those articles, like Soccer and Intramural football, which you really didn't want to do ... but did any way. Rebecca and Heidi were always keeping our meetings exciting! Thanks for your creative ideas and always adding the humor we needed on those long Monday nights. (Right "Freshman Goddess"??) Dana was also a BIG help in putting together this TARTAN. Being my sister she often listened to me complain or cry like only a sister could and for that she deserves a medal!! Now I excitedly pass on the torch to her as editor and I pray she'll have a great staff like I had and really enjoy the experience.

Of course, I could not forget our faithful photographers. Without them our book would not be very long!! Greg, Gordon and Mike spent lots of hours with a camera in hand!! I appreciate their willingness to go to all the events throughout the year and for Greg making those numerous trips to Wolfe Camera!! Thanks guys!!

While I am thanking those who helped us put together this marvelous book I can not forget Eileen and Joni who spent lots of time copying, mailing and sending memo's for us!! I know they hated to see us come, but we greatly appreciated their help!! Mrs. Graham gave us a hand on several occasions along with Mrs. Wilson and we give them a big "Thank you!!"

I'd like to thank those "support people" who helped me, too! First I'd like to thank John, my fiance. His encouragement and pep talks got me through many late nights and difficult situations! I love ya John!! The support of my parents was fantastic. My Mom offered lots of advice and suggestions along the way which was greatly appreciated. And to Wendy, my roommate, who had to put up with pictures, rulers, boxes and "yearbook mess" lots of times I want to say a special thanks for not moving out and looking for a non-Tartan roomie!!

Putting together this book gave me a chance to work with lots of different people in lots of different situations. I thank all those that helped along the way!! It is definitely not a one woman show!! God was very faithful and really blessed our efforts!! Without Him we would have never gotten past page one.

I really pray that everyone will enjoy this book of the memories we've shared this past year!! It's neat to look back and see how God has faithfully worked in each of our lives. I pray that this Tartan will help you remember your year at Covenant and reflect on what God did in your life!! May God richly bless you and Covenant always!

Love,

Amy Curnow
